DOSING

We are all Biochemical individuals. Every person metabolizes nutrients differently according to their genetic make up, psychological and physiological stress, and environmental factors. The dosing has been figured for people between 165 and 225 lbs that we consider to be normal healthy human beings. The dosages are statistical averages. The dosages that Cyto-Charge is suggesting for the system may vary from what is on the bottle because you are stacking five products that are accentuating the biochemical pathways that improve performance and increase protein synthesis (recuperation). You may find over time that you require more or less of each formula to fit your own biochemical individuality.
